

TUESDAY SPEAKER LUNCHEON

Tuesday, March 15, 2005

Hank Flick, Ph.D. is a professor in the Department of Communications at Mississippi State University. He holds degrees from Memphis State and Southern Illinois universities. He is the public sports announcer for Mississippi State football and basketball. Hank lectures widely and leads numerous workshops across the state and region. He has spoken to groups such as the Florida Marlins, Shell Oil, Entergy and NAACP.

Doing the Bubba: The Beauty of Southern Culture

There is a growing sense of pride people feel in being from the South. Yes, intelligent people are proud to call the South their home. Take off your shoes, grab a cup of coffee or a glass of tea, and stay awhile. Spend a few moments with this speaker reflecting on the beauty of southern culture and what it teaches us about living and life itself. The presentation focuses on three blessings or common views of living and life that are part of southern culture. Namely, that life is good, nature is beautiful and anyone is someone.

Luncheon Menu

No tickets will be provided at this meeting. Entry to the event and meal selection will be confirmed from a registration list at the door.

Luncheon service includes: Tossed salad with choice of dressings, chef's choice of starch, seasonal vegetables, warm rolls and dessert, freshly brewed coffee and iced tea. Your choice of entrees can be selected from the following:

Beef: Petite Filet Mignon, surrounded by Chablis Mushroom Quarters, Sauce Béarnaise.

Chicken: Monte Carlo Chicken, Grilled Breast ladled with a Roasted Red Bell Pepper Sauce, and topped with Artichoke Hearts.

Vegetarian: Vegetarian Pasta, Linguine with Sundried Tomatoes, Pine Nuts, and Fresh Seasonal Vegetables Tossed in Lemon Vinaigrette, Garlic Toast.